DID YOU KNOW?

Mild headaches occurring on and off can be more dangerous than a severe, troublesome migraine.

RED ALERT SYMPTOMS

- Elderly people with sudden headaches and projectile vomiting (forcible and without any nausea or indications).
- Mild headaches affecting an elderly person on and off without much trouble.
- Headache with high blood pressure and weakness of limbs.
- Headache with severe neck stiffness.

Among the several types of headaches, most are functional, caused by temporary upsets, while the rest are related to organic diseases such as brain tumors, cervical spondylosis, and sinusitis.

Common causes of headaches without fever include allergies, emotional stress, eye strain, high blood pressure, low blood sugar, nutritional deficiencies, electrolyte imbalances, and migraines.

SHPC's New Algorithm Based Homoeopathic Treatment Protocol

NEW!

- The new algorithm explicitly identifies the exact cause of headaches, recommends only the necessary investigations to confirm the diagnosis, and prescribes individualized treatment protocols to eradicate the headache.
- The algorithm alerts us to dangerous varieties of headaches, ensuring that the critical golden hours for serious diseases are not missed.
- It drastically reduces unnecessary investigation expenses.

Treatment Hallmarks

- Nowadays, the challenge in headache treatment lies in the presence of multiple contributing factors. For instance, a patient may simultaneously suffer from iron deficiency anemia, cervical spondylosis, and sinusitis. In such cases, we must address the anemia with iron supplements, provide physiotherapy for cervical spondylosis, and use homeopathic medications for overall cure.
- The new algorithm-based individual protocols effectively address all the causative factors of headaches, leading to remarkable results.
- Homeopathic medicines are safe, effective, and palatable; moreover, they do not interact with other life-saving medications.
